Dear Lou —

How are you, palomine, nose-picker and fight my hander. Are you going to come home the fourth of July? I had planned on going to Chicago when my vacation came which I thought would be in August. Well, instead the only two weeks they could give me would be from the 5th of June to the 22nd. Not having much money saved, I don't think I could make, especially after I passed a Major Stop Street Sign the other night and was fined three dollars. Now don't blame me, the sign was literally covered with leaves from the branches of a tree, so I didn't see it, till the motor-cycle hombre called my attention to it. It was on 20th + St. Louis.

So owing Larry two dollars, I decided that I had better stay home and straighten up and then if you were not coming home the fourth I would arrange to save my money and totter up to the Windy City. What do you think, brother, is it a good idea. I'd like to go up there for I had my heart set on a trip outside of St. Louis because out of St. Louisan territory never before have I been. I could have shot that copper, but I guess it's better he caught me because it will teach me to be more observant.

You might let me know about the 4th. in Ma's letter, or if you are going to come home yourself I'll make it the next holiday. Take care of yourself, brother, as I'd take care of little me. Yours! Bud.
