The Academic "C" was an honor, since it represented the school "Cleveland" and was the equivalent of lettering in scholars.

Dorothy went to work after high school since there was little money during the depression for college. It was at Ralston Purina where she met Keith Morrison and the rest is history. They often talked of the times they would go out to hear the "Big Bands" and have a big dinner with drinks all for the price of about $2. Keith was a good dancer, too, so they must have made a handsome couple.

The end of the depression came, and so did World War II. Keith was with the FBI, and on March 16, 1943, they were married at the Church of St. Mary Magdalen. Next came Tom, and then Denny. The memories that follow are from the life of the family.
